An Update on Our Response to the Coronavirus (COVID-19):

From the onset, we have wanted to be as proactive and prepared as possible to mitigate the spread of COVID-19 among residents and staff. We have also wanted to be transparent in our communications to help inform residents, families and the community of our work in safeguarding those we serve as best we're able during this pandemic.

Pelican Valley Senior Living began facility-wide testing in June 2020 as a proactive measure to understand and mitigate further spread of any confirmed cases of COVID-19. Our facility-wide testing has included residents and staff as well as essential caregivers, compassionate caregivers, college students conducting clinical rounds, physicians, vendors and suppliers among others.

As of Tuesday, December 15, 2020, our current cases include:
